4. RPPR

"How can I have my publications comply with Public Access Policy?"

Preparation is Key to Avoiding Delays in Funding. Some suggestions:

- Use My NCBI's My Bibliography feature to monitor Public Access compliance for all the applicable papers that you author or arise from your NIH award. Be sure to create an account using your eRA Commons ID, or link your current account with your eRA Commons account.
- As you plan a paper or support one with your NIH award, discuss with the authors how the paper and the NIH awards that support it will comply with the Public Access Policy.
- Visit the Public Access Policy web page for more information: <http://publicaccess.nih.gov/>
- Multi-Year Progress Reports (MYPR)
 - ◆ Now use the RPPR format.
 - ◆ NOT accessed via the RPPR tab
 - ◆ MYPR link will be on the List of Applications/ Grants Status Results screen

5. PRAM

"How can I access the Progress Report Additional Materials (PRAM) link?"

Progress Report Additional Materials (PRAM) link on Status screen can appear in two formats:

- Public Compliance PRAM
 - ◆ This link will appear on the Status screen upon submission of an RPPR with publications that are not in compliance with the public access policy (current PRAM functionality).
- IC Requested PRAM
 - ◆ IC Requested PRAM link will appear when the funding Institute/Center sends a request for additional material, information or clarification concerning a submitted RPPR
 - ◆ The grantee will submit a response to that request through the eRA Commons
- Once PRAM is routed to an SO, the Program Official (PO) will not be able to recall it. The SO will "own" the report until routed back or submitted to agency.
- See Guide Notice NOT-OD-13-035 for more information about RPPR and PRAM.

eRA Service Desk Top Ten FAQs

6. eSubmission

“How can I correct this error message?” - The eRA Commons Username <Credential> in the PD/PI Credential field on the Senior/Key Person page is not a recognized eRA Commons Account.

- All PD/Pis must include their eRA Commons ID in the Credential field of the Senior/Key Person Profile Component of the SF 424(R&R) Application Package. Failure to register in the Commons and to include a valid PD/PI Commons ID in the credential field will prevent the successful submission of an electronic application to NIH.
- The person named as a PI must have a eRA Commons ID AND the Principle Investigator (PI) role.

7. Reference Letters

“How do I submit Reference Letters?”

- Letters may be submitted directly to eRA Commons and must be submitted by the referee by the application receipt due date or as early as the Funding Opportunity Announcement (FOA) opens. Letters may even be submitted before the application is submitted.
- The referee does not need to be registered in Commons to submit a reference letter. It is important that the referee has available and includes the eRA Commons ID of the PI and the appropriate FOA number that will be used for the application submission.
- Go to <https://commons.era.nih.gov>, under Commons Related Resources, click on the link: Submit Reference Letter.

Once the Confidentiality Statement is signed, the View List of Applications will be available.
